NEGROES ON HAND.

Keith & Perry Supplied with Men from the South.

PUT THROUGH A COURSE OF DRILL.

Perry Says He Is Determined to Work His Mines. Whether Accorded State and County Protection or Not.

When City, Kan., July 26.—There have been no further hostilities since midnight Monday night. A shot from the stockade at Keith & Perry's mine No. 6 at about that hour put things on the quiet for awhile, but nothing turned up. Inquiry in the morning elicited the statement that a guard had been sent to the mine to see if the mine was still in the hands of the negroes.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning a Galt train came to Keith & Perry's mine No. 5 with two car loads of negro miners from Colorado, and an hour later another Galt train from the north ran through town without stopping until the stockades were reached, bringing in four car loads of negro miners from Colorado. This latter train was reported to have left six car loads of negroes for the Kansas & Texas Coal Co. at Littlefield. The ten cars handled by this train are known to have been gathered from the south, and are the forerunners of still heavier importations, but there is something peculiar about the first two cars. It has been learned that the division reported out of the mine in town Sunday ended with the delivery of two cars of miners to Keith & Perry.

He has been in the mine since Keith & Perry's superintendent, Mackenzie, declined to take them, and the other coal companies also said they knew nothing of the Colorado shipment. Since then, however, Keith & Perry agreed to take them.

When the importation of Colorado men was rumored on the streets some ago it was said the miners would manage to introduce their own men into the stockade to proselyte among the others, and the singularity of a surplus in human freight induced the suspicion that the miners' union was at the bottom of the scheme. What truth there is in it is not known, but it is taken for granted that Keith & Perry did not receive them until satisfied about their character.

At a meeting of the miners a committee was appointed to visit the negroes and endeavor to get them out. The committee was refused admission to the stockade by the guards. Returning to town, they produced a short note from the miners' union, and the committee was refused admission to the stockade by the guards.
